Winter Breaks at West Winds now include daily tea and cake...

As the recent late blast of summer looks to be falling foul of the gathering grey skies of autumn, it's time to make some holiday plans for the winter!

If you fancy some fresh air and bracing walking, why not head to Buckden for a Winter Break at West Winds? Stay two or three nights, bed and breakfast, between 2 November 2015 and 29 February 2016, and take advantage of a significant reduction in our normal rates. And you can enjoy complimentary tea and cake in front of our log fire on a daily basis during your stay!

The total price for a Winter Break at West Winds is £89 for two people for two nights or £119 for three nights. Alternatively, come as a group of four and take a double room and two single rooms for £178 for two nights or £238 for three nights.

We can provide packed lunches for your days on the hills, while in the evenings you can take a stroll to John and Gordon's restaurant or the Buck Inn in the village, or visit the George at Hubberholme. And if you've stayed at West Winds before, you'll know the choice of cooked and continental breakfasts is amongst the best you can get in the Dales. Try our new home-made granola with natural yoghurt and honey, for example...
