West Winds prepares for a new spring...

It's all happening. Today is, of course, the Spring Equinox – officially the first day of spring. We've just had a solar eclipse and Mothering Sunday has already been and gone. And in just over a week's time, British Summer Time begins!

Even better than all that, the tearooms at West Winds will be opening their doors for a new season at 2pm next Friday (27 March). On the menu will be the usual favourites, including Venison and Old Peculier pie, Luxury Yorkshire Afternoon Tea, Yorkshire ham, fine coffee from Grumpy Mule and perhaps even new season Yorkshire rhubarb pie.

This year the tearooms will be open for lunch from 12.30pm to 3pm and then afternoon tea, sandwiches and cakes from 3pm to 5.30pm. For those who prefer a modern tea-and-cake experience, we've taken a leaf out of the book from all those High Street chains of café-bars. We've decided to sell muffins in sealed plastic bags so they stay soft for three weeks. Of course, we're joking! What we have done though is install a super-soft, huge sofa in the tearoom to give a more relaxing alternative to table dining.

Please note that Buckden is not quite like in the pictures just yet, but give it a few weeks...

Stock up with cake for home too...

Lynn's

teatimecakes.net

Lynn's Teatime Cakes will be continuing to tempt your taste-buds with a wide range of cake-tin goodies, ranging from chocolate and carrot and walnut gateaux, through Yorkshire curd tart and brandy fruitcake, to pecan pie and treacle tart.

All cakes and pastries are completely home-made at West Winds using quality, often organic, ingredients in authentic old fashioned recipes.

Stay the night at West Winds...

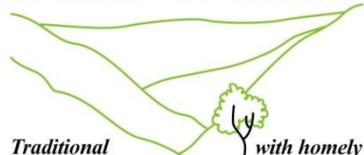

Bed and breakfast at West Winds is the same price in 2015 as it was last year and we offer complimentary tea and cake on arrival and a wide range of breakfasts.

We have one double room and two single rooms, which is an ideal set-up for a family or group of friends. And if you do take all the rooms, bed and breakfast works out at just £27 per person. Naturally you can book just a double or single room too. Many people see us as an obvious night-stop while walking the Dales Way, the Inn Way, Lady Anne's Way or Wainwright's Pennine Journey.

We can also offer Best of Yorkshire Special Breaks, which include a Luxury Yorkshire Afternoon Tea for two, and Green Reward Special Breaks for those who travel all the way here by train and bus.

For more details about staying at West Winds, call 01756 760883 or visit www.westwindsinyorkshire.co.uk/bedbreakfast.asp For special offers, visit www.westwindsinyorkshire.co.uk/specialoffers.asp
